

O Israel's Shepherd Hear Our Pleading

PSALM 80 - Genevan Psalter (altered)

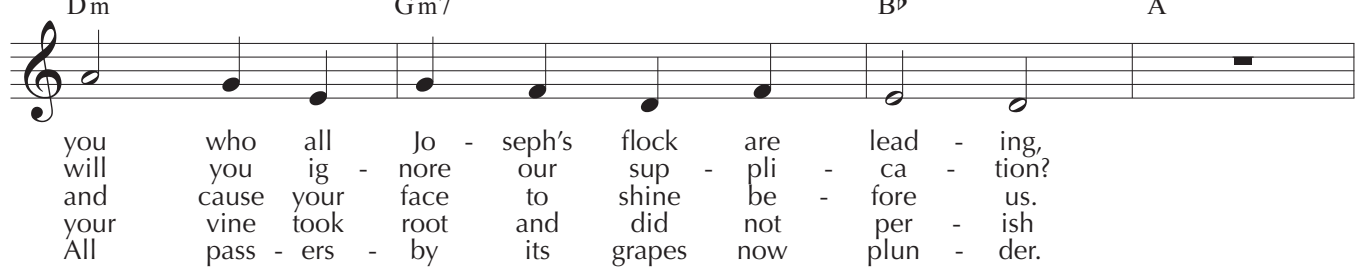

Dorian

Dm Gm7 B♭ A

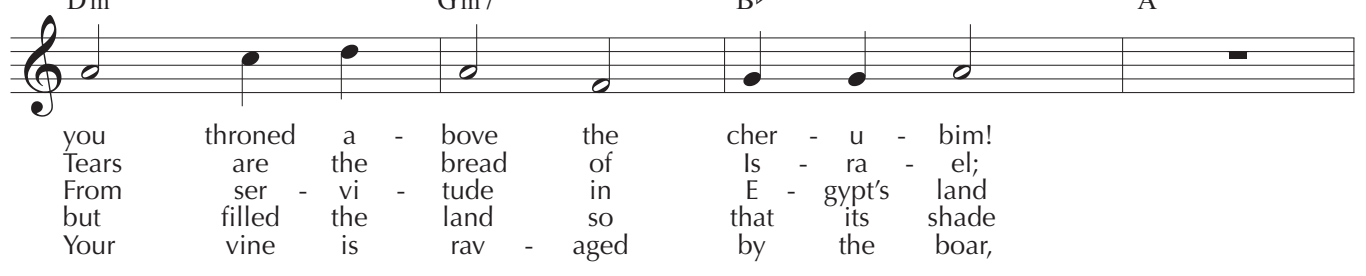

1.O Is - rael's Shep - herd, hear our plead - ing;
2.How long yet in your in - dig - na - tion
3.Lord God of hosts, O come, re - store us
4.You cleared the ground for it to flour - ish;
5.Why did you break its walls a - sun - der?

Dm Gm7 B♭ A

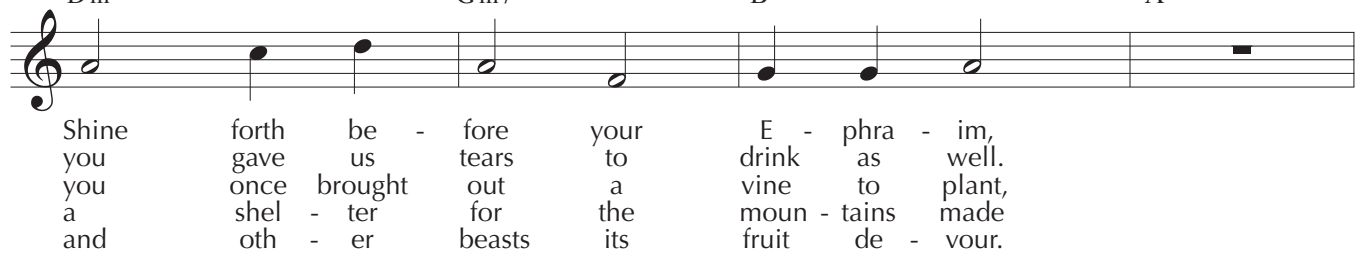

you who all Jo - seph's flock are lead - ing,
will you ig - nore our sup - pli - ca - tion?
and cause your face to shine be - fore us.
your vine took root and did not per - ish.
All pass - ers - by its grapes now plun - der.

Dm Gm7 B♭ A

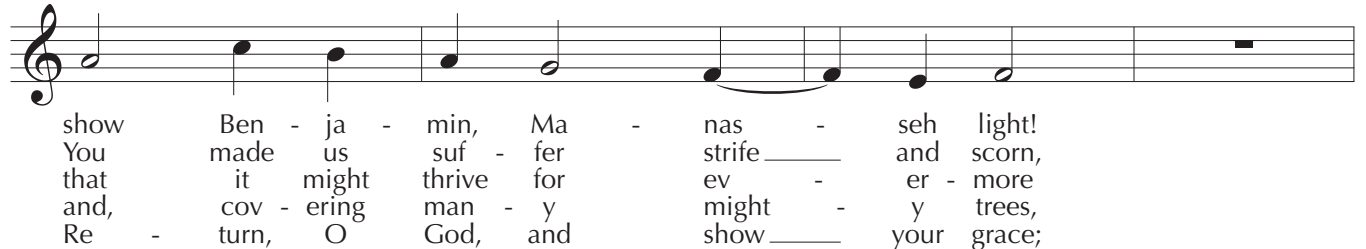

you throned a - bove the cher - u - bim!
Tears are the bread of Is - ra - el;
From ser - vi - tude in E - gypt's land
but filled the land so that its shade
Your vine is rav - aged by the boar,

Dm Gm7 B♭ A

Shine forth be - fore your E - phra - im,
you gave us tears to drink as well.
you once brought out a vine to plant,
a shel - ter for the moun - tains made
and oth - er beasts its fruit de - vour.

F G A Dm

show Ben - ja - min, Ma - nas - seh light!
You made us suf - fer strife and scorn,
that it might thrive for ev - er - more
and, cov - ering man - y trees;
Re - turn, O God, and show your grace;

PSALM 80 - Genevan Psalter (alt.) - 2

B $\flat$  F Gm A Dm Come, save us, God! Stir up your might.
 and we our neigh - bours' jeers have borne.
 where oth - er na - tions dwelt be - fore.
 spread to the Riv - er and the Sea.
 look down from heaven, your dwell - ing place.

6. O God of hosts, grant preservation and save your vine from devastation.
 See how they in their savage ire
 have cut it down, burned it with fire.
 O let them perish in their fear
 when you with your rebuke appear.

7. But let your hand, so great in power,
 your aid and favour freely shower
 upon the man at your right hand
 and let him there beside you stand.
 You raised him up, the son of man,
 to work out your salvation's plan.

8. O then we shall forsake you never!
 Revive us, and we shall forever
 call on your name, before you bow.
 LORD God of hosts, restore us now
 and cause your face to shine on us.
 LORD, save us in your faithfulness.
